The camp is aimed at children under 14 who have played in junior tournaments and have a chess rating above 30. If you are unsure if it is suitable for your child please get in touch before entering. Coaching groups will be split on grade.

Due to the extra responsibility and the smaller groups the cost will be higher for this event. Numbers will be limited to 30 children on a first come first serve basis in order to ensure we maintain the low adult – child ratio.

Whilst the organisers accept responsibility for looking after the children, they do not accept responsibility for any theft or accident during the event. It is down to the individual parent if they wish for their child to bring expensive items with them on the day, but we would advise against it and will not be held liable if anything should happen to those items. Parents must also make their own decision as to whether their child is mature enough to be left for the day to behave responsibly and stay within the designated areas. We will not be held liable if a child intentionally leaves the premises. Photos of the children may be taken by the organisers in the playing hall. These may be published on chess websites or in chess related articles. If you're not happy for photos of your child to be used then please email us before the start of the event. Your email address may be used to send chess related information.
